Supervisory Patent Examiner, Art Unit 2624

(Applicant/Applicant's Representative Signature – if appropriate)

Continuation of Substance of Interview including description of the general nature of what was discussed: Examiner contacted Applicant's representative indicating claims 1 and 10 had been amended to the "acquisition unit including input terminals" and while the disclosure supported the acquisition units and acquisition of the topological invariable, key information and target content, the disclosure did not provide sufficient support for structure corresponding to "input terminals". Examiner noted that the "terminals" appeared to have been added to the claim to provide additional or clarification to the structure of the apparatus in order to overcome the previous rejection under 35 USC 101. Examiner also indicated that upon further review and consideration of the specification, particularly page 45, the specification did not support the "units" as being embodied by pure software but were a combination of a computer and software program, where the computer is functioning according to the software instructions thereby realizing the function of the "units". It was agreed to delete the language "including input terminals" from claims 1 and 10 through Examiner's Amendment.
